MEET THE PRESIDENT

Dr. Joe J. Mickle

Dr. Joe J. Mickle is a graduate of Southern Methodist University, obtaining his Master's Degree from Columbia University. He has been prominent in national and international educational work for 35 years. From 1921 until 1941, he lived in Japan where he was a professor in Kobe, Japan. Under Dr. Mickle's leadership over the past 16 years Centenary has more than tripled in enrollment and the endowment of the college has been increased more than six fold.

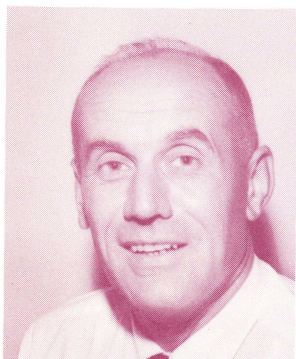

A WORD OF WELCOME

We at Centenary wish to extend a warm welcome to the many fine basketball teams and newspaper and radio-TV men who will be visiting Shreveport and our Hirsch Memorial Youth Center this winter. We are very proud of our team and our facilities and trust that you will return to Shreveport as our guest many times in the future.

We are proud, too, of Coach Sigler and his fine staff and tremendous progress made in the past three years toward bringing top-flight basketball powers and national recognition to Centenary and our Ark-La-Tex area.

Again, welcome to Shreveport, Centenary College and the Hirsch Memorial Youth Center.

MEET THE COACH

Orvis Sigler

When Orvis Sigler came to the Centenary College campus some three short years ago to take charge of the Gentlemen's bid for national basketball recognition he was moving into an area where he was virtually an "unknown." But today, as he stands on the threshold of his fourth campaign as Centenary head man, he is one of the most respected and active cage coaches in this great Southern area.

Seldom has a coach in such a short time been able to win over the complete confidence of players and fans alike while experiencing "break even" seasons. But Sigler today holds that complete respect and backing by not only Centenary followers but every basketball fan of the area.

His work with the Gents has been enough in itself to gain praise from most quarters but Sigler is not satisfied with merely booming his own basketball program at Centenary. His interest in basketball goes beyond the gates of the Kings Highway campus.

It was largely due to his efforts last season that the first State High School Basketball Tournament was held in over 20 years bringing together in one arena the 20 best high school teams in Louisiana's five classes. He continues each year to work very close to the high school basketball coaches of Shreveport to assure only minor conflicts between the Centenary schedule and the schedules of Shreveport and Bossier's five prep teams.

Sigler is willing to go anywhere at any time to promote the sport and no job is too small or too large for him to tackle if it means helping the sport in general.

At Centenary during the past three seasons he has worked with talent that has been hard-pressed to impress anyone and playing schedules that would cause some of the major powers to shudder but he has always managed to hold his head high and his teams have always given a good account of themselves no matter what the odds.

Sigler believes that defense as well as offense is still part of the game of basketball and his teams are well-coached in this fast-fading art.

His success in recruiting and in getting the so-called "big schools" on the Centenary schedule year after year are fitting tributes to his reputation in his chosen profession. When he came to Centenary only three major college schools were listed on the schedule while today well over 60 per cent of the schedule is against major college foes placing Centenary in the major college classification in the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

Before coming to Centenary, Sigler held coaching positions at Southwest Missouri State, Missouri Valley College and the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. He served during World War II as a Navy dive-bomber pilot in the South Pacific. As he enters his ninth year of coaching his record reads 93 wins and 94 losses. Four of these seasons were spent at West Point where height restrictions hamper basketball success.

MEET THE ASS'T. COACH

Doug Mooty

One member of the all-time great Centenary basketball brother clan—the Mooty boys from Alabama—has the job of introducing Gent frosh to the Centenary basketball system in the capacity of assistant basketball coach.

He's Doug Mooty, popular middle brother of that famous brother act, and one of the hardest-working assistant coaches in the college ranks today.

Doug came to Centenary as a coach in 1957 after compiling a 59-39 record as a high school coach at nearby Belcher and North Caddo High Schools and has had the job of coaching the freshman teams since Sigler came to Centenary in 1958.

Doug took to the job like a duck takes to water and whatever success Sigler has enjoyed or will enjoy as Centenary head coach much of the credit must go to Mooty and his work with the yearlings.

Mooty was a highly-competitive player in his day and this spirit has carried over into his coaching. He will fight down to the closing whistle and if necessary this Marine Corps veteran of Korea can still get out on court and give his charges a personal demonstration of just how the game should be played.

In the spring Mooty also serves the Gents as baseball coach.

At home, he and wife Pat have two up-and-coming young stars of the future in sons James Douglas, Jr., 4, and two-year-old Gregg.

MEET THE STAFF

Bill Baker

SPORTS INFORMATION DIRECTOR: Bill Baker, a former Shreveport Times Sports Writer and now a teacher in the Caddo Parish School System, will serve his alma mater for the second straight year as Sports Information Director. Baker is a 1961 graduate of Centenary and served on the Shreveport Times sports staff for seven years before leaving last March to enter the teaching profession. He also served as a Navy journalist in the Far East and served as president of the Louisiana Sports Writers Association during 1960-61. His wife, Anne, also teaches in Shreveport.

BUSINESS MANAGERS: School: Carl Wilkinson; Athletics: Joe Scholibo. The efficiency of these dedicated men makes the matter of college athletic finances and ticket worries more pleasant.

FACULTY ADVISOR: Dr. John Entrikin. Long-time friend of the Gents and head of the chemistry department.

TENNIS COACH: Dr. Sid Rice. Also director of physical education at Centenary and a member of the Gent team since 1956.

GOLF COACH: Morton Braswell. Alumnus who lends his time and talents to the department on a seasonal basis.

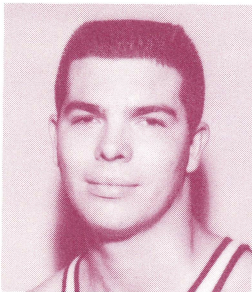

SECRETARY: Miss Carolyn Guin. Her cheerfulness and pleasant smile are a great asset to the department.

STUDENT MANAGER: Rupert Byars of Shreveport.

MEET THE GENTS

DALE VAN BIBBER Letterman

Senior—Ht. 6'6"—Wt. 230—Age 21

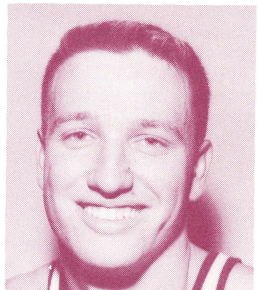

This should be the finest season in a fine career at Centenary for big Dale. . . . Last season as a junior and playing in the shadow of the great Jackie Crawford, "Bibber" was the second highest scorer and rebounder for the Gents, hitting 14.1 points per game in 25 contests and hauling in 7.4 rebounds per outing. . . . Dale hails from Dexter, Mo., but his hobbies are strictly "All-Louisiana" — hunting and fishing. . . . He is one of those tough, aggressive, hard-nosed type basketball players that commands plenty of respect from teammate and opponent alike. . . . He showed a renewed determination last season and this season is expected to carry the load in the rebounding department. . . . Up until last season his shooting was considered the weakest part of his game but that was improved considerably over his sophomore year and now as a senior he is expected to come into his own on offense as well as defense. . . . Tall, rugged and confident, "Bibber" should be a tall Gent in the Centenary stable.

WILLIE FORD KING, JR. Letterman

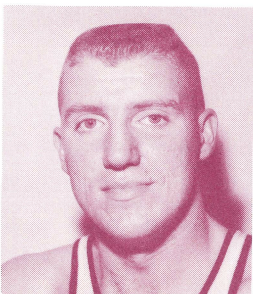

Senior—Ht. 6'3"—Wt. 190—Age 21

Willie Ford King, Jr., has always been considered a fine prospect by the Centenary high-command and now in his senior season that same high respect for his ability remains. Ford is expected to be a valuable man for Centenary and adds tremendously to the overall depth of the squad. . . . Ford hails from Nacogdoches, Texas, but played his high school ball at Big Sandy, Texas, under his father, Ford King, Sr. . . . His calmness under fire and ability to come through in the tight spots should become great assets for Coach Sigler.

MICHAEL ALEXANDER RAMMING . . . Squadman

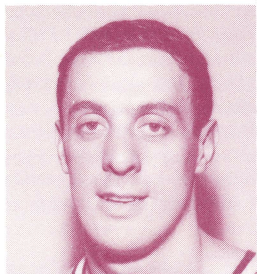

Senior—Ht. 6'5"—Wt. 200—Age 21

"Ramrod" was one of Centenary's top freshman prospects three seasons ago but his two years of varsity play have been disappointing to him as well as the coaching staff. . . . This, his senior season, might very well be the year he regains that old form and if he does he just might mean the difference between a good and great season for the Maroon and White. . . . Mike hails from Webster Grove, Mo., and as a prepster was a member of the "All St. Louis" team.

MEET THE GENTS

RALPH RICHARD FERRARI Squadman
Junior—Ht. 6'7"—Wt. 210—Age 26

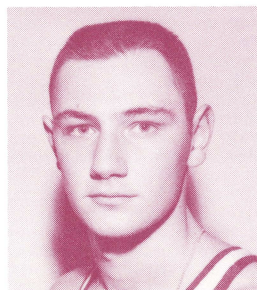

"Yogi" is the "old timer" of the Centenary team being the oldest member of the squad but is a very serious student both in the classroom and on the basketball court. . . . His height and rugged build plus a strong determination to get ahead might make him the sleeper of the team. . . . He is another "hoss" Coach Sigler hopes to give plenty of work, especially under the boards, and feels that given an opportunity this native of Freeland, Pa., might be just the man to help make Centenary one of the toughest teams under the boards in the business.

WILLARD WRAY MOORE Letterman
Junior—Ht. 6'2"—Wt. 160—Age 23

"Soup" completely missed six games last season and saw limited service in a half dozen more due to a back injury that was hard to shake. . . . But once in the lineup he fulfilled his expectations to the fullest. . . . Barring another injury this season Moore should make a move toward becoming one of the finest guards in Centenary history. . . . He was an outstanding service star before coming to Centenary and is a natural leader. . . . He has the ability, desire and hustle to become one of the great ones before he graduates.

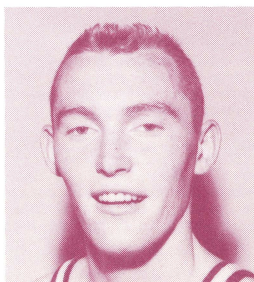

JOHN ADAM LUKASIK Letterman
Junior—Ht. 6'2"—Wt. 170—Age 20

This Irvington, New Jersey, youngster sat out most of his freshman season with an ankle injury and was used sparingly last season. . . . But this season figures to be one of increased activity for John and before the season is over he could very well be a regular fixture in the Centenary lineup. . . . He has all the potential necessary to become a real fine basketball player and has been brought along slow due to that bad injury as a frosh. He is a smooth ball-handler and has a fine shooting eye. . . . Look for John Lukasik to get in considerably more playing time in the future.

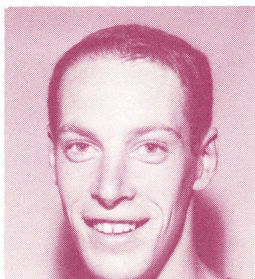

ROBERT RILEY WALLACE Letterman
Junior—Ht. 6'5"—Wt. 180—Age 20

Riley, along with Moore and Don Ensley, gave Coach Sigler three of the finest sophomore prospects in the area a year ago. . . . This season, with that year's experience and a determined effort to be the best, Riley should be an outstanding performer. . . . He was the third highest scorer on the team last season and led the squad in field goal percentage (45.0). . . . He played in 25 games and held a 9.7 average although sitting out many minutes due to too many fouls. . . . With a little luck, this aggressive ace should see many more minutes playing time and give Centenary a strong forward line.

MEET THE GENTS

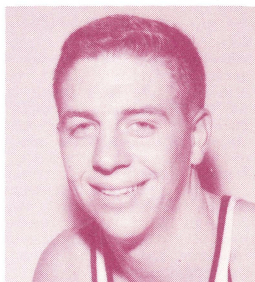

HARRY ANTHONY WUENNENBERG, JR. Letterman
Junior—Ht. 6'9"—Wt. 205—Age 22

Harry is still the tallest man on the Centenary campus and one who should be very valuable in the Sigler system. . . . He saw plenty of action as a soph and showed plenty of improvement from start to finish. . . . Should he improve as much this season as last he could very well take over as the team's "big man" in a short time. . . . He is another Missouri product, hailing from St. Louis.

DON CURTIS ENSLEY . . . Letterman
Junior—Ht. 6'2"—Wt. 180—Age 20

"Dusty" quickly became the "people's choice" last season with his colorful style of play and never failed to stir up interest among players and fans alike whether on friendly or enemy courts. . . . He is a smooth operator on the court and considered one of the top defensive stars on the Centenary campus. . . . He was born in Davenport, Okla., but played his high school ball in Joplin, Mo. . . . He is sure to be in the thick of the fight for a starting backcourt position and is the type of player fans keep coming back to see.

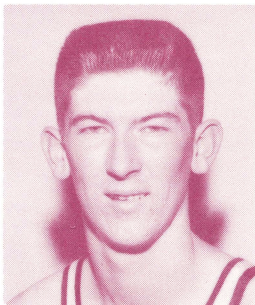

EDGAR LEE EASLEY . . . Transfer
Junior—Ht. 6'6"—Wt. 195—Age 24

"Easy Ed" comes to Centenary from East Mississippi Junior College with fine clippings but is not content to rest on his laurels. . . . He is out to prove himself to the coaching staff and Centenary fans that he deserves all that advance billing. . . . He was an all-state, all-Southern high school star and hails from Pittsboro, Miss. . . . His height and rugged build should fit right in with Sigler's "big boys" and is expected to add tremendous strength to the Centenary effort this season.

CECIL LEE UPSHAW . . . Bossier City, La.
Sophomore—Ht. 6'6"—Wt. 185—Age 19

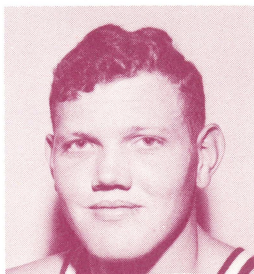

Cecil was one of the most sought-after athletes in the Ark-La-Tex when he graduated from Bossier High School in 1960 not only by college basketball scouts but professional baseball men. . . . He chose Centenary and did a tremendous job last season on Coach Doug Mooty's outstanding freshman team hitting 15.9 points per game and controlling the boards. . . . Great things are expected from Cecil in the future. . . . Added weight should make him more aggressive on the boards and his fine shooting eye is already on every scouting report. . . . He is expected to see plenty of duty in his sophomore year on the varsity.

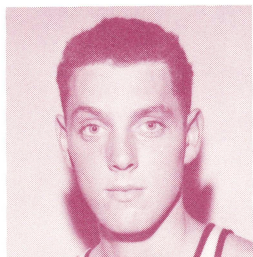

MEET THE GENTS

ROBERT LOCKWOOD . . . Spearsville, La.
Sophomore—Ht. 6'3"—Wt. 190—Age 19

Built more like a college football tackle than a basketball player, Robert is another of those aggressive, hard-nosed type players so essential in the college sport today. . . . He was an all-stater in high school and his willingness to learn makes him a valuable prospect.

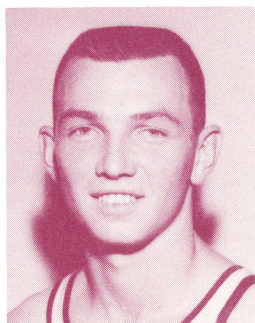

JIMMY ROY PIPPEN . . . Crossville, Ill.
Sophomore—Ht. 6'2"—Wt. 165—Age 19

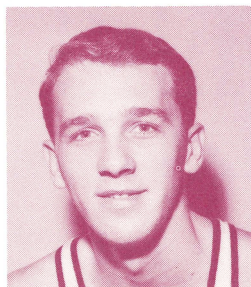

Here is another eager soph who has the ability to turn into a top-flight star of the future. . . . Jim saw service in all 18 frosh contests last season and appeared as a smooth-working ball player who can think as well as act in the best interests of the team. . . . He helps give Coach Sigler a strong soph bench.

JAMES PAUL WILLIAMS . . . Shreveport, La.
Sophomore—Ht. 6'2"—Wt. 172—Age 19

This is the local boy on the Centenary roster, along with Upshaw who hails from neighboring Bossier, and was the leading scorer on last season's freshman team with an 18.5 per game average. . . . Jimmy, an "A" student, was graduated from Shreveport's Byrd High School where he was an all-state star. . . . He has the desire and ability to become one of the greats of the game and is willing to work hard toward that end. . . . But he is also a strong team man and does everything for the good of the squad. . . . Defense is considered his weakest point but he is working hard to improve this and should see a considerable amount of service as a soph.

STANLEY EVAN McAFOOS . . . Alton, Ill.
Sophomore—Ht. 6'—Wt. 160—Age 19

Stan was the second leading scorer among the frosh last season with 16.8 points per game and is the colorful, flashy type ball player that keeps the fans on the edge of their seats from start to finish. . . . He is expected to fit in very well with the likes of Ensley and Moore and might eventually push one of these established stars out of a starting job. . . . McAfoos' presence on the Centenary varsity will give Coach Sigler one of the strongest backcourts he's ever had at Centenary.

THE OUTLOOK

If the Gents develop as they should this season, this should be Coach Orvis Sigler's finest season at Centenary College. Added experience and a fine corps of sophomore stars are the two biggest factors in Centenary plans for 1961-62. This year's Gent squad will number 15 men and will include two local boys for the first time since Cecil Rhodes played for Centenary. Competition for starting berths and traveling squad positions should be keen, resulting in a good season for the Kings Highway Gentlemen.

Experience: Seven lettermen return including four starters in Don Ensley, Willard Moore, Dale Van Bibber and Riley Wallace. In addition there is one outstanding junior college transfer in Ed Easley and two squadmen in Ralph Ferrari and Mike Ramming. The added year's experience for these 10 men should prove very valuable and adequately fill Centenary's weak spot of a season ago.

Sophomores: Probably the five best sophomore prospects since Orvis Sigler has been at Centenary. The scoring and rebounding of Cecil Upshaw and the outstanding offensive play of Jimmy Williams and Stan McAfoos should be very useful to the varsity cause. In addition, dependable Jim Pippen and Robert Lockwood round out an impressive crew of sophs. Upshaw and Williams should be added gate attractions being local products.

Height: The team is not quite as tall as a year ago but still have fair height overall.

Speed: Should be better than in 1960-61 due to the five sophomores who can really move on the court.

Rebounding: About the same as last year despite the loss of ace Jackie Crawford. Van Bibber, Wuennenberg, Ensley and Wallace should be improved due to added experience.

Defense: The one weakness in the Gent setup. This is a spot Centenary must work hard to improve this season or be content to try to "outscore" the opposition.

Offense: Should be as strong if not stronger due to experience despite the loss of Jackie Crawford, last season's top point-maker.

Opponents: Without a doubt the strongest schedule Sigler has faced at Centenary. The main reason is the road schedule as Centenary travels to the top basketball centers of the nation and many do not return to Shreveport to give the Gents a home court chance. The success of the season depends on Centenary's success on the road.
